Ninth Grade

Student's Book

Virginia Paris

Action Pack is a twelve-level course for Jordanian students, leading them from the Basic to the Secondary stage. It is based on the most modern methods of teaching language, combining a topic-based approach with functional language practice, careful attention to grammar and vocabulary and a comprehensive skills syllabus.

This level is for Grade 9 students.

The Action Pack series offers learners:

- modern, interesting and relevant topics
- a clear and systematic approach to grammar, with thorough practice
- integrated skills which work with a particular focus on reading and writing
- consistent building and recycling of vocabulary
- special sections devoted to functional and situational language
- project work at the end of every module
- the development of critical thinking skills

Each level of Action Pack consists of a Student's Book, an Audio Cassette or CD, an Activity Book and a comprehensive Teacher's Book.

Starting out

You will be able to:

- listen to a radio programme about friendship
- predict the meaning of new vocabulary items
- take part in a debate about the most important quality in a friend
- read about some famous people in the past
- talk about famous people and their personalities
- write a factfile about a famous person

Before you start

Look at the pictures. Are the people in each picture friends? Discuss with a partner.

1  Listen to the radio programme about friendship. Make notes on what makes a good friend.

2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

outgoing, personality, shy,
uncommon, sense of humour,
loyal, interests

3 Write the names of three people who are important to you: someone in your family, a friend and somebody famous. Then, work in pairs and tell your partner why they are important to you. Find out about the people on your partner's list.

1. My mum
2. Hassan
3. Mustafa Salameh
(mountain climber)

Example

Hassan's important to me because he's my friend. We play football together.

Friends

Before you start

Read the title.

What does "first impressions" mean? How do you think they can be important? Why / Why not?

Reading

- 1 Skim this story about friends. Do you think it is strange that Rashed and Jamal are such good friends? Why / Why not?
- 2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

impression, close, serious, reliable, skilful, talented

First impressions

To be honest, the first time I met Jamal, I didn't imagine that we would ever be close friends. He arrived about a year ago at our school. I saw him in the playground. He made friends quickly as he was very friendly and funny. He told jokes and made all the other students laugh. In class, he was clever and hard-working. He didn't take much 5 notice of me that first week – we seemed so different. I'm quite serious and really shy.

Well, one afternoon, about a week later, I met Jamal on the basketball court. We were alone and we started to play basketball together. We soon discovered that we had a lot in common: we both love basketball and music. From that day on, we became really good friends. Jamal is actually a kind and reliable person. He's a really skilful 10 basketball player and he thinks I'm talented because I play the piano really well.

Our classmates find it strange now to see us together – the outgoing Jamal who always has a big smile, and me, the quiet and shy boy. They find it difficult to believe we're best friends. After school, we usually sit and read or listen to music together. Every Saturday, we go and watch a basketball match or practise together on the courts.
15 It just goes to show how first impressions can be so wrong.

Rashed

Assessment Tool 1

3 Read the story on page 6. Then answer the following questions.

- Find eight adjectives from the story that describe Jamal and four adjectives that describe Rashed, and put them in the correct column.

Jamal	Rashed
friendly,

- Work in pairs. Which of the adjectives you found do you think describe / do not describe your partner?
- Do you sometimes have first impressions about people? Give real examples from your daily life.

Grammar

1 Read through the table below. Then, correct the underlined verb form in each statement or question.

a. Fadi will tries to fix the car himself.
b. Sally speaks on the phone with her cousin at the moment.
c. Have you travel to Egypt before?
d. Faten was typing the report when the electricity go off.
e. Ahmad says we not have to come before 9 o'clock.
f. The teacher has gave us an assignment for tomorrow.

2 Mazen has a test this week and he still has to prepare. Help him get ready for his test by giving him advice, using have to/don't have to, can/can't.

Example

You have to go to bed early the night before your test.

3  Listen to what Ziad says about himself. Take notes about his qualities and preferences as you're listening.

4 Read the following table. Then, put a tick (✓) or a cross (X) next to each sentence to match the information Ziad has given about himself.

This person loves sports and takes risks.	☒
You can trust this person with a secret.	☐
This person is never late for a meeting.	☐
This person likes to be with many people at the same time.	☐
This person likes watching films.	☐
This person likes to have friends who are older than him.	☐

5  Listen again and check your answers.

Over to you . . .

6 Choose three qualities that you think are important in a friend and three that you think are not important. Then, work in pairs and compare your answers.

Important	Not important loyal

7 In a group, have a debate about the most important quality in a friend, based on the statement 'The most important quality in a friend is honesty.' Use expressions like That is a very important point; That seems reasonable; I can't agree, I'm afraid; That's not how I see it.

People from the past

Before you start

Who are the three most famous people in your opinion? Discuss with a partner.

Reading

- 1 Read about these famous people from the past. What did they do that made them famous?
- 2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

self-taught, to pursue, superb, valuable, pharaoh, to reign, mysterious, philosophy

Books Weekly

There are many people who are still famous today because of what they did or who they were. Here are three that we, at Books Weekly, think are some of the most famous.

Tutankhamun

Tutankhamun is one of the most famous rulers in history, but we know very little about his life. He became famous

- 5 when the English archaeologist Howard Carter discovered his secret tomb in 1922. Inside the tomb, Carter found a superb collection of valuable objects. These included the impressive mask of
- 10 Tutankhamun, which is probably the most well-known object from Ancient Egypt. Tutankhamun was only a boy when he became a pharaoh in Ancient Egypt around 2,500 years ago. He reigned for only a few
- 15 years and died very young. His death is mysterious.

Fadwa Touqan

- Fadwa Touqan is one of the greatest poets of Palestine in the 20th century. Born in Nabulus
- 20 to a well-known wealthy family, Touqan also carried the Jordanian nationality. Even though she was not given the opportunity to pursue her education, she still insisted on studying and was self-taught with the assistance of her
- 25 brother, Ibrahim Touqan. She was considered a great figure of modern Arabic literature and received many awards including the United Arab Emirates Award in 1990 and the Honorary Prize for Poetry in 1996. She died in 2003.

Ibn Sina

- 30 Ibn Sina or Avicenna, was one of the most famous scientists. He was born around 980 CE in Afshana, in present-day Uzbekistan. Most of his written work focused mainly on
- 35 philosophy and medicine. He's well known for writing a scientific and philosophical encyclopaedia called The Book of Healing and he is considered the Father of modern medicine. This encyclopaedia was adopted as
- 40 a medical textbook in many universities at that time. Ibn Sina's works also included writings on astronomy, psychology, mathematics, physics and poetry. He died in Hamadan, in Persia, in June 1037 CE.

Grammar

- 1 Match the sentence beginnings (1–4) with their endings (a–d). Then, complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

1. I'll go shopping with my sister in the afternoon ...
2. Sami was playing football ...
3. I usually read adventure stories, ...
4. I met Zinedine Zidane last summer, ...

- a. when he ____ (fall) and broke his arm.
- b. but I ____ (not meet) any other famous person.
- c. then we ____ (go) to the theatre with our cousins.
- d. but now I ____ (read) a history book.

- 2 Answer the following questions about yourself in full sentences.
- a. What were you doing this morning when the bell rang?
 - b. What do you think you will do in your summer holiday?
 - c. What do you have to do when you're playing football?
 - d. Which historical monument have you been to?

3 Read the Listening Strategies.

Listening Strategies: Completing a factfile

- Before listening, read the factfile prompts to help you know what to listen for.
- Listen carefully to find relevant information for each prompt (dates, actions, etc.).
- Write down the information in the space provided.

- 4  Listen to a conversation about Alexander the Great, following the Listening Strategies. Then, complete the factfile below about him.

Think of two or three other occasions and ask your friends what type of clothes they should wear for each one. Why?

Occasion	Type of clothes

Traditional garments

Reading

Before you start

Look at the pictures. What do you think about these people's clothes? Use the words from the box to describe them.

- 1 Read and match each conversation to a picture. Do you think traditional garments are important to preserve? Why / Why not?
- 2 Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

tunic, costume, jumper, sleeves, headdress, headband, robe, to wrap, garment, silk

TOM:

Who's the young man wearing the tunic? Is he your dad?

KAMAL:

No, it's my grandpa when he was a teacher. That's the traditional Jordanian costume. In the past, he didn't wear jeans, jumpers or jackets. He wore a tunic with long sleeves, called a thobe.

TOM:

Oh, and what's that on his head?

KAMAL:

It's a kufiyyah that people wore as a headdress. The black thing around it is an agal. It's a headband that keeps the kufiyyah from falling off your head. Did you know that some people still wear the traditional Jordanian costume?

TOM:

That's amazing!

Misaki:

Asma:

Misaki:

This is my mum and my aunt when they were young. Which is your mum and which is your aunt? They're both wearing the same clothes!

My mum is the one holding an umbrella. My aunt is the one with the blue purse. They are wearing kimonos. It's a long, traditional Japanese robe with long sleeves that you wear by wrapping it around your body.

Asma:

Wow! Traditional clothes are beautiful!

Salma:

Is the woman who's wearing the red dress your mother?

Hina:

Oh no, that's a photo of my sister on her wedding day. She's wearing a sari.

Salma:

She looks amazing! What's a sari? Is it a traditional garment?

Hina:

Yes, but Indian women still wear them today. A sari is a long dress with a piece of material, like cotton or silk, that covers the shoulders.

Grammar

Relative Pronouns

- 1 Read this paragraph, circle that, who, which, whose and where and underline the relative clauses.

A charity shop is a shop that belongs to a charity organisation. It usually sells the things that people donate. Charity shops are places where you can find 5 clothes that someone else doesn't want anymore. There are also so many charity shops which have sales or discount days for students. People who want to buy cheap clothes can go to a charity shop.
 10 There are some people who like charity shops which are organised according to type of clothes. So, it is important to find a charity shop where items are organised properly. People whose clothes are 15 donated feel very happy to help others.

- 2 Match the sentence beginnings (1–4) with their endings (a–d), using who, which, whose or where.

A

1. Salem is going to participate in the spelling competition,
2. The woman and the baby
3. Salem visited the town
4. Muna trusts her best friend

- a. actions show that she's always honest with her.
- b. we met in the park are my aunt and cousin.
- c. my school is organising next month.
- d. Arar, the poet, was born.

- 3 Fill in the gaps with that, who, whose or where. Then, in a group, discuss your guesses.

Student: Why do we have to wear a school uniform?

Teacher: That's a good question. Most schools have rules (1) _____ tell students how to dress. A uniform helps students to focus on their studies and not worry about what they should wear.

Student: Do you mean to say that wearing ordinary clothes distracts students from studying?

Teacher: Well, students (2) _____ clothes are trendy may show off to other students. It's only fair that students (3) _____ are from different backgrounds feel equal in the school (4) _____ they study.

Student: Oh, I understand. Do you think this affects students' performance?

Teacher: Yes, I do. Having a school uniform also creates a sense of belonging (5) _____ leads to school pride. Students become proud of being part of their school.

- 4 Finish these sentences to make a questionnaire. Then, in pairs, ask and answer the questions.

Example

Do you buy clothes that are too large?

1. Do you buy clothes that _____?
2. Do you have friends who _____?
3. Do you like people whose _____?
4. Do you enjoy visiting villages where _____?
5. Do you wear shoes that _____?

- 5 Help Rashed find out who the new members of his football team are. Describe each one in your notebook using relative pronouns based on the photographs below.

Jaber

Sami

Adel

Mazen

The person who is studying in the library is Jaber.

The Comparative and Superlative

- 6 Write the Comparative and Superlative forms of these adjectives.

big casual cheap classic colourful comfortable formal practical smart tidy

Adjective	Comparative	Superlative

- 7 Listen to a conversation between Salma and Rana. Then, complete this table with (✓), (✓✓) or (–) to make comparisons as in the example in the box. Then, listen and check.

	blue jacket	red jacket	yellow jacket
nice	✓✓	✓	–
short fashionable casual expensive

Over to you . . .

- 8 In a group, discuss the different styles and types of clothes you learnt about in this module. Then, write a paragraph based on the discussion. Which style do you like wearing best? Explain why and compare your response with the choices made by the other members of your group.

Assessment Tool 2

“The employee of the month is ...”

Before you start

How do you think the title relates to the pictures above? What qualities do you think a good employee should have?

- 1  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

to abide by, bribe, colleague, conduct, ethics, dress code, exemplary

Find the words

- ▶ A set of rules for what you can wear
- ▶ How you behave
- ▶ Someone you work with

READING

2 What do you know about workplace ethics? Answer these questions before reading the article.

1. How should you deal with others at work?

2. What can you do to help your company impress customers?

3. Why is a dress code important in an office?

3 Following the Reading Strategies below, read the article and check your answers.

Employee of the month

Like millions of people around the world, Khalid Mustafa works in an office. He works with the same colleagues every day, and he often has meetings with people from other companies. Everyone says the same thing about him – he is the ideal employee.

5 “Khalid is a great worker and an example to follow. He’s always neatly dressed, and he follows the code of workplace ethics,” explains his boss, Saleh Moussa. “This means that he behaves properly in the office. He is very polite and respectful to those around him. He has a positive attitude, and he interacts very well with his colleagues so that the job is done efficiently. I also trust Khalid. He would rather 10 resign than lie, cheat, steal or accept a bribe.”

Khalid also abides by the company’s dress code. This is another reason why he’s such a good worker. He usually dresses up in a casual business style and makes sure that his clothes are always neat. “It means I can work more comfortably,” says Khalid. “It also projects a professional image to my colleagues and to visiting clients.”

15 Any employee who doesn’t respect the company’s dress code may be sent home to change or receive a verbal warning, but this is never a problem for Khalid. “I always feel happy when I’m working hard. The dress code helps to create a working environment where it is simple to do that.” In short, Khalid’s conduct at work is exemplary.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

7 Think about what qualities an ideal employee should have. In a group, have a short debate based on the statement 'A good employee is a person who only has a good attitude.' Use linking words such as 'so that' and 'because' while presenting your argument to explain your point of view and to give reasons. Then, fill in this job advertisement and discuss your choices.

We are looking for a top _____ to work for us.
You have to have the following skills: _____.
You must abide by these rules:

- a. _____.
- b. _____.
- c. _____.

If you think you are the ideal person for the job, send us an email.

Writing instructions

Before you start

Have you seen a logo that you can still remember? What did you think about it?

Writing Strategies: Writing instructions

- Always give instructions in a logical order. Think carefully about what the listener needs to know at each stage.
- Remember to include enough detail in your instructions.
- If you are not sure whether your instructions are detailed enough, try following them yourself to test them.

Designing a logo

(b)

(c)

(d)

- First, choose your product of interest.
- Then, think of a logo to represent your product.
- Next, pick the appropriate colours for the logo.
- Last, check if the logo represents the product well.

- 1 In pairs, ask and answer questions about the logos.
 1. How does each logo represent what the company does?
 2. In what other ways could a designer have represented these companies?
 3. In which logo do you think colour is most important?
 4. Which logo do you think is the most successful? Why?
- 2 Work in groups to design the logo for a fashion company. Decide which words, pictures and colours best represent its aims. Take notes.
- 3 Write instructions as a group for the design of your logo, following the Writing Strategies. Use words such as first, next, then and finally to make sure the instructions are clear and easy to follow.
- 4 Have another group draw and colour your logo using only your written instructions.

Language Development

- 1 Complete this passage with the relative pronouns who, that, which, whose and where.

In the company (1) _____ I work, we all know the rules (2) _____ we have to follow. Our manager is very strict with us; he is the one (3) _____ organises the work among us. The dress code, (4) _____ each one of us has to follow, makes all the employees look neat and professional. The manager warns any employee (5) _____ attitude is negative towards their colleagues.

- 2  Now, listen to the passage and check your answers.

- 3 Choose a word or a name for each of the following items.

the most beautiful place that you have visited in Jordan

someone who is as close to you as your family

something that is more important to you than anything else in the world

What do you think?

Read the quotation.
Translate it into Arabic.

3. What are you going to do to achieve your goal when you finish school?

2. Plan your actions

Now that you know what you want to be in 2030, let's plan how to achieve your goal.

In 2030, I'm going to be an astronaut and I'm going to travel to the Moon.
What	Why	When	Where	How
I'm going to finish high-school.	Because I want to go to university	In the year ...	At ... school	I'm going to study hard.

Copy this table on a sheet of paper, and write your answers to these questions:

1. What steps are you going to take to achieve your goal?
2. Why do you have to take these steps?
3. When are you going to take or achieve these steps?
4. Where are you going to carry out these steps?
5. How are you going to achieve these steps?

3. Map out your journey

Now decide what you are going to achieve each year.

20..	20..	20..	20..	2030
I'll finish high-school.	I'm going to finish university.	I'm going to learn to fly a plane.	I'm going to apply for a job at the Space Agency.	I'm going to walk on the Moon.

Now you only have to do it!

Grammar

Be going to (future planning) and will

- 1 Complete the dialogue with the correct form of be going to in the affirmative, negative or interrogative.

Habib: I have decided to plan my future. I (1) _____ (make) my decisions for next year.

Hamzah: Really! What are you going to do?

Habib: I am going to be a computer specialist, so, I (2) _____ (begin) by taking maths seriously. My maths teacher thinks it's a good idea. He told me that he (3) _____ (give) me extra lessons so that I can pass the entrance exam at university.

Hamzah: What (4) _____ you _____ (do) about those video games you like so much?

Habib: I (5) _____ (play) any more video games until I get my degree at university. Then, I (6) _____ (apply) for a position at one of the largest technology companies.

Hamzah: Well, good luck to you! I still don't know what I am going to be.

- 2 Which comment is better in each situation?

1. Experts think that the new Internet will be more powerful than the one we know.
 - a. It will probably be more powerful.
 - b. It's definitely going to be more powerful.
2. I'm going to be an electronic engineer.
 - a. At which university are you going to study?
 - b. At which university will you study?
3. I'm going to visit my grandparents at the weekend.
 - a. You'll probably visit your grandparents at the weekend.
 - b. You're going to visit your grandparents at the weekend for sure.

- 3 Complete the dialogue between the two young Jordanian scientists, Fawzi Al Mitwalli and Nour Maraqa.

Nour: Fawzi and I are going to/will make a refrigerator that works without electricity.

Fawzi: First, we are going to/will place a tall glass box inside a container full of water.

Nour: Then, we are going to/will put them both in a mirrored glass box. The mirrors are going to/will reflect the sunlight and prevent it from warming the container.

Fawzi: Finally, two small fans on each side of the mirror box are going to/will circulate the air around the container. As a result, the evaporating water is going to/will keep the glass box and the food inside cool.

- 4  Now, listen to the dialogue and check your answers.

- 5 Imagine you are in one of the situations below. Write sentences about what you are going to do.

Example

I have a maths test tomorrow. → I'm going to practise solving those problems.

1. My room is very untidy → I'm ...
2. I want to be a musician → I'm ...
3. I'm tired → I'm ...
4. I've got a difficult test tomorrow → I'm ...
5. I was late for school today → I'm ...

- 6 In pairs, take turns to guess what your partner is going to do in each situation from exercise 5.

Example

A: I was late for school today.
B: Are you going to buy an alarm clock?
A: No, I'm not.
B: Are you going to get up earlier?
A: Yes, I am.

- 7 In pairs, take turns to make predictions about life in 20 years. Use the words from the box to give you ideas.

transport the environment

- 8 Read the Speaking Strategies.

Speaking Strategies: Having a group conversation

- Make sure everyone in your group has a chance to speak.
- Listen carefully to others, and wait for the speaker to pause before sharing your ideas.
- If anyone in your group hasn't had a chance to speak, you can encourage them to join the conversation by asking, 'What do you think?', 'Do you agree?', 'What's your opinion?' or 'Do you have anything to say?'

- 9 Go over the questions below. Then, following the Speaking Strategies, answer them and discuss your opinions in groups. Are they similar or different?

In the 22nd century:

How will computers look different?

Will we have robots instead of doctors?

Will we still read books, or will we only read online?

Will cars fly?

Will we have airports in the sky?

Will we still carry passports?

Will we take holidays on other planets?

What jobs in the house will computers and robots do?

 1. What does a science fiction story talk about?
 2. What elements make a good science fiction story?
 3. Why do people write science fiction stories?
- 3 Now, scan the article and check your answers.

The science fiction story

Science fiction or “Sci Fi” deals rationally with alternative possibilities to our everyday reality. Sci Fi uses scientific theories, new scientific principles or new technologies as elements in the story.

A good science fiction story will include the following elements:

- 5 • A setting in the future, or in a historical past that is different from the history we know
- A setting in outer space including technology or scientific rules which contradict known scientific theories

There are many arguments about which story was the first science fiction story. However, science fiction as we know it today started with Jules Verne, who wrote 10 exciting adventure stories including amazingly accurate predictions about future science. In From the Earth to the Moon, 100 years before the first Moon landing, he predicted that astronauts would be weightless in space! No one knew this at the time.

Why is science fiction so popular today? Is it just because the stories are exciting? Some people believe that it is popular because it is the literature of change. There have been 15 many technological advances in the past few years, and it is natural for any culture to discuss these and future changes in stories. Some writers’ predictions come true, and it is thrilling to read examples of what our lives might be like.

Assessment Tool 4

Filling in an application form

Before you start

Have you ever filled in an application form? Have you ever applied for a job?

Application form

First name: Raed

Surname: Al Rasheed

Address: 251 Al Taj Street, Amman

Phone number: _____

Email address: _____

Interests / Hobbies: reading science magazines,
swimming, jogging

Write a short paragraph explaining your relevant experience, your reasons for applying and your expected contributions to the job.

I am applying for the vacancy of software programmer in your company. I worked in a computer company for three months as a research assistant. I am interested in the position in your company because it matches my field of specialisation: software programming. I feel I'll have the opportunity to use my expertise in this field to contribute to your company by developing new programmes, and to develop my skills further.

Writing Strategies: Filling in an application form

- When filling in an application form, it is necessary to use formal English.
- Do not use slang or abbreviations, and avoid using contractions, i.e., use 'do not' rather than 'don't'.
- Be clear and logical. On an application form, you should first say what job you are applying for, and then give further details.

1 Imagine you are applying to join the Science Club at school. In pairs, discuss what you are going to include in your application form. Answer the following questions.

1. What are your reasons for applying to join the club?
2. What experience do you have that is relevant to the club?
3. How will you contribute to the club?

2 In a group, make an application form for the Science Club. Use the form above as a guide. You may include any additional headings that you find necessary.

3 Read the Writing Strategies. Then, use your notes from exercise 1 to write the paragraph about yourself to include in the application form. When you finish, exchange your notebook with your partner to edit each other's paragraphs.

Before you start

Look at the photos. Do you know any languages that use these alphabets? In which countries are these languages used?

- 1  Listen to a specialist talking about the origin of writing. Take notes. Then, put these questions in the same order as their answers appear in the text.

1. What are hieroglyphics and who used them?
2. What did civilisations do to develop faster in the past?
3. What are the new systems for writing?
4. Which civilisations were the first to communicate by writing?

- 2  Listen again and check your answers in pairs.

3 Read the Listening Strategies.

Listening Strategies: Words in context

- Before you listen, read the words carefully so that the pronunciation is familiar.
- Think about the words. Try to identify as much detail as you can. Are they verbs, nouns or adjectives? Are they singular or plural? If they have capital letters, what does that tell you?
- Listen out for each word and concentrate carefully on its context, as well as on the general meaning of the text.

- 4  Following the Listening Strategies, listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

primitive, efficient, Sumerian,
ancestor, to communicate,

Writing and communication

Before you start
What do you do if you want to post a letter?

Reading

- 1 Read the text. Which came first: the alphabet, hieroglyphics or cave painting? How do you think people will communicate in twenty years' time?
- 2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

clay, government, suitable, light, portable, papyrus, messenger, to collapse, private

A short history of written communication

When people talk about the most important developments of civilisation, they usually mention writing. Writing makes it possible for people to send messages over long distances and across time.

Imagine living on Earth 30,000 years ago. If you are good at drawing, you will cover the walls of your cave with paintings of your hands. If you are a good hunter, you will draw the animals you've hunted to show people. Such drawings are among the earliest examples of 'writing'.

Thousands of years pass, and writing moves from drawings to hieroglyphics and then alphabets. As written language develops, people realise they can communicate with other people further away. They want to send letters. But if you want to send a letter, you should use a postal service.

The earliest example of a postal service was found in ancient Egypt – a clay letter nearly 4,000 years old. The first government postal service began in China about 3,000 years ago, but people still needed something suitable to write on.

Then, 2,500 years ago, the Egyptians discovered a light, portable writing material: papyrus. Soon afterwards, messengers on foot or horseback carried messages in Egypt and China. During the reign of Augustus Caesar (27 BC–14 CE), the Romans organised Europe's first postal service, but after the Roman Empire collapsed, the service stopped.

In the late Middle Ages, private postal systems carried personal and business mail. People still send letters today, but if they want others to get their news right away, they send an email.

3 Read the text on page 38 again. Then answer the following questions.

1. How do you think cave painting helped us understand the lifestyle of the civilisations in the past?
2. In your opinion, how did the post office help people in the 60s communicate better? What's the role of the post office nowadays?

Grammar

First Conditional

1 Match the sentence beginnings (1–4) with their endings (a–d) then write them down in your notebook.

1. If you want to know more about communication by writing,
 2. If you read this article,
 3. If you are a caveman that is good at drawing,
 4. If you want to send a letter,
- a. you may decide to cover the walls of your cave with paintings of your hands.
 - b. you should use a postal service.
 - c. you should read this short history of writing.
 - d. you will want to know more about this subject.

3 Complete the statements and questions using the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

Example

What will you do if it rains tomorrow?

1. What (you / do) if it (rain) tomorrow?
2. If you (want) to learn Chinese, you (have) to study hard.
3. (you / help) me with my French homework if I (help) you with the dishes?
4. My sister (not go) to the theatre with us if she (not finish) her English homework.
5. Dad (tell) us where to find this information if we (phone) him.
6. If you (hurry) up, you (get) to the post office before they close.

4 Read the story below. Work in groups to make conditional sentences about the story.

Omar is a very hard-working student and he loves going to school. However, one of his classmates sitting next to him keeps bothering him and can't let him focus in 5 class. Omar's grades begin to drop, and his parents are not happy with his performance anymore. One day, Omar decides to send an email to the headmaster explaining the situation so that his classmate stops
10 bothering him. What do you think will happen if Omar sends the email? What if he doesn't send it?

Example

- A: If Omar sends the email, the headmaster will change Omar's place in the classroom.
- B: If Omar doesn't send the email, his grades will keep on dropping.

5 Make a chain of five conditional sentences using one of the beginnings as your starting point.

Example

If I study hard, I will get into university. If I get into university, I will study hard. If I study hard, I will get a degree. If I get a degree, my parents will be very happy. If my parents are very happy, I will be happy too.

1. If I study hard, ...
2. If it doesn't rain tomorrow, ...
3. If I convince my parents, ...

6 Read the Speaking Strategies.

Speaking Strategies: Responding in discussions

- Listen carefully to each other when working in pairs to make the discussion more effective.
- A good way to show that you are listening carefully is to respond to what your partner is saying. This can be by asking a relevant question or saying something like, 'Oh, really?', 'I agree' or 'Me too!'. You can also use facial expressions like gestures, eye contact and nodding.

7 Work in pairs. Ask and answer the questions about your day tomorrow, following the Speaking Strategies.

1. How will you feel if you have an exam?
2. What will you do if you have too much homework?
3. What will happen if you go to bed too late?
4. What will you do if you can't get to sleep at night?

Over to you . . .

8 In pairs, complete the table with conditional phrases.

	You	Your partner
I will play football this weekend if...
I will go to the public library tomorrow if...
If I listen to my parents...

Example

I will play football this weekend if I don't have any homework.

9 In a group, have a debate about sending letters or emails, based on the statement 'It is a waste of paper and money to send someone a letter, not an email.' Use expressions like the ones on page 7, exercise 7, as well as other expressions like What if ...?; I'd agree with you if ...; If you are talking about ..., then ..., to agree or disagree.

2 Work in pairs. Try to answer these questions before reading the article.

1. In which country was hieroglyphic writing originated?
2. In which direction do you think hieroglyphic writing was read?
3. Do you think there are any communities still using hieroglyphic writing today? Explain.

3 Now, read through the article and check your answers.

Hieroglyphic writing used symbols or pictures to represent objects. People wrote hieroglyphics in rows or columns. In the case of rows, you can read them from left to right or from right to left. You must look at the human or animal figures to work out which direction to read. (They always face

The Egyptians developed writing about 6,000 years ago. Scribes were among the few people who could read and write. They decorated their temples with hieroglyphics, which Egyptians called 'the words of God'. The Egyptians developed hieroglyphic writing at the same time as Sumerian writing was developed on soft clay. However, the Egyptians didn't write on clay; they wrote on papyrus, wood and rock walls.

- 10 The Egyptians were the first to use writing in everyday life. That is how they found that hieroglyphics were great for decorating temple walls, but not very useful in daily business. For these more common activities, people used a simpler script, called 'hieratic'.

towards the beginning of the line.) In the case of a column, you must read from top to bottom.

- 30 Hieroglyphic symbols are divided into alphabetical signs that represent a single sound, and signs that represent a combination of two or three consonants. There were also 'word-signs'. These are pictures of objects. There were at least 700 symbols, and each symbol had up to three meanings. Also, a symbol could represent just one sound or it could represent the picture it showed. Our writing system today is much simpler!

4 Answer the following questions.

1. What do the pronouns in bold refer to?
2. What do the underlined words in the article mean?
3. Do you agree with the article that our writing system today is much simpler? Why / Why not?
4. Do you think that, in the future, new writing systems might be developed and be even simpler than the one we have today? Justify your answer.

5 What can you remember? Cover the text and correct the false information in the following sentences.

1. The Egyptians developed writing about sixteen centuries ago.
2. Scribes decorated their temples with clay.
3. Before they discovered papyrus, the Egyptians wrote on clay.
4. People wrote hieroglyphics only in rows.
5. You should read symbols in columns from left to right.
6. Symbols could have more than one meaning.

LISTENING

6  Listen to the text about writing and choose the correct answers.

When someone writes lightly, he is...	nervous	tolerant	calm
A pencil can draw a line that's...	55 km long	55 m long	5.5 km long
Red ink shows that someone is...	sociable	dominant	powerful
You can see the writing on a pencil when...	you use the right hand	you use the left hand	you use both hands
Writing using attached letters means you are...	cautious	careless	artistic

7  Now, listen again and check your answers.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

8 Choose one of the civilisations that created its own system of writing. Imagine you are one of the earliest writers of the system. Explain its importance to a partner.

Example

Hello! I'm a caveman. If I want to tell my friends that the hunting is good here, I have to leave them a message. If I want to leave them a message, I have to do it on the walls. If I draw the animals we can find here, my friends will know what to hunt...

9 Create a new writing system in a group. Decide if it is based on ideograms, pictograms, hieroglyphics or sounds. Write a short message to the class. Then, exchange your work with another group and write a short paragraph giving your constructive feedback about the other group's writing system.

Translating proverbs

Before you start

What do you think proverbs can tell us about the place they came from? Can you think of any Jordanian values expressed in Arabic proverbs?

- Actions speak louder than words.
- Speech is silver, but silence is golden.
- Words cut more than swords.
- Wrong hears, wrong answer gives.
- Brevity is the soul of wit.

- الأفعال أعلى صوتاً من الأقوال.
- إذا كان الكلام من فضة فالسكوت من ذهب.
- الكلام أقطع من السيوف.
- من أخطأ السمع أساء الإجابة.
- خير الكلام ما قل ودل.

Writing Strategies: Translating proverbs

- Read the proverb carefully and try to understand the general meaning.
 - Do not translate the proverb word for word because the translation of proverbs might have a different structure in the other language.
 - When you do the translation, make sure you maintain the gist of the proverb.
- 1 Work in a group. Take it in turns to act out a proverb of your choice without speaking or writing. You may choose from the list above.
 - 2 Discuss how we would communicate with each other without speech or writing.
 - 3 Read the Writing Strategies. Then, answer the following questions.
 - Write down any proverbs you know about communication in either English or Arabic.
 - Following the Writing Strategies, translate the proverbs.
 - In what ways is it useful to be able to communicate in more than one language? Write your answer in a short paragraph, using linking words for coherence.

A miser's final wish

Before you start

Do you save some of the money your parents give you or do you spend it all? How do you save it? What do you spend it on?

Reading

- 1 Read this story. Do you agree with what Mrs Lin did? Why / Why not?
- 2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

miser, bank note, penny, coffin, to lead (a life), ceremony, bank account, cheque

Mr Lin was a really hard-working man. Every day, he worked for ten or twelve hours and he slept for just a few. Mr Lin had only one purpose in mind: to make a lot of money, and to spend as little of it as possible. He was a miser.

As he did not trust in banks, Mr Lin kept all of the bank notes that he saved inside shoe boxes. Every night, before going to sleep, Mr Lin sat and looked at his money. One night, he called his wife and said: "When I die, I want you to take all of my money and place it inside my coffin. I want to take all of my money with me, even the few pennies

I have saved."

Mrs Lin, who was a very good wife and loved him in spite of the miserly life he was leading, said: "I promise you that when you die I will put all the money in the coffin with you".

One day Mr Lin died.

Mrs Lin was sitting next to her closest friend during the ceremony. When the ceremony finished and before the coffin was closed, Mrs Lin said: "Wait just a minute!"

She had a large shoe box with her. She stood up, went to the coffin, and placed the shoe box inside it. Then, the coffin was closed and buried.

Her friend said: "I hope you weren't crazy enough to put all that money in the coffin!"

"I'm a good wife," said Mrs Lin, "I promised him that I was going to put his money in that coffin with him, and I did it."

"You mean to tell me you put every penny of his money in the coffin with him?"

"Of course," said the wife. "I got it all together, put it into my bank account and then wrote him a cheque."

3 Read the story on page 50 again. Then, answer the following questions.

1. Do you agree with the statement 'to make a lot of money, and to spend as little of it as possible'? Why / Why not?
2. Do you think Mr Lin was wise enough to know how to use his money? Justify your answer.

4 Complete the sentences using one of the options.

aid, ambulance, disaster, federation, medic, neutrality, suffering, volunteer

- ▶ A vehicle for carrying sick or injured people
- ▶ A sudden event that kills people or causes a lot of damage
- ▶ A type of soldier who gives first aid during battles

Reading Strategies: Predicting answers

- You probably know something about the topic of this article before reading it.
- Think carefully about the questions in exercise 2. Even if you don't know the answer, try to guess what it might be. Will the answer be a country, date, number or fact?
- If you have thought carefully about the questions in advance, finding the real answers becomes much easier.

READING

2 Following the Reading Strategies, answer these questions before reading the article.

1. How did the Red Crescent get its name?
2. Why is the Red Crescent important to the International Federation?
3. What does the Red Crescent do to help people?

3 Now, read the article and check your answers.

The Red Crescent

In 1877, the Ottoman Empire went to war with Russia. The medics who took care of the wounded soldiers on the Russian side marked their ambulances with a red cross. This was the symbol used by all countries to protect medics during battles. However, the cross reminded the Ottoman Empire of previous wars against 5 soldiers carrying a similar flag. So the Ottoman officials used a red crescent to mark their ambulances instead. Some time later, other Muslim countries accepted this symbol, and it was formally adopted in 1929. So far, 33 Islamic countries have recognised the Red Crescent.

The Red Crescent Society is part of the International Federation of Red Cross and 10 Red Crescent Societies. This is a huge organisation that has 97 million members, volunteers and supporters in 187 National Societies. Red Crescent societies are important to the International Federation, as they have developed guidelines that include non-Western traditions.

Today, the Red Crescent is very important in responding to disasters such as 15 earthquakes or fires, as well as providing aid to developing countries. A key principle of the organisation when providing this aid is neutrality. Red Crescent volunteers work to prevent suffering for everyone – regardless of nationality, race, religion or gender.

4 What do these relative pronouns refer to?

1. who (line 1)
a. soldiers b. ambulances c. medics
2. that (line 10)
a. members b. organisation c. 97 million
3. that (line 12)
a. traditions b. organisation c. guidelines

5 Read the article on page 54 again and answer the questions.

1. What is the most important objective that the Red Crescent has which distinguishes it from other organisations?
2. Name other organisations that you know of in Jordan, which help people in need. What do they do?
3. What qualities do you think one should have to volunteer with the Red Crescent?

LISTENING

6  Listen to this doctor talking about first aid. Identify his attitude, then complete the following table in your notebook.

SPEAKING

7 Read the Speaking Strategies. Then, think of a project to help the people in need in your city. It can be a poor neighbourhood, children in hospital or children in orphanages, for example. What do they need? What can you and your classmates do to help them? How can you convince your classmates to help them?

Speaking Strategies: Arguing persuasively

- Make your arguments simple and clear.
- If you can, give facts and examples.
- Think of relevant reasons to back up your arguments. Use expressions like 'because' and 'the reason why'.
- Be practical. What can you and your classmates do to help? If your ideas are too complicated, people won't feel able to help.

WRITING

8 Write down your arguments from the previous exercise and practise saying them. Use linking words for coherence.

Agreeing and disagreeing

Before you start

Look at the posters. Have you ever donated any books, DVDs or clothes? Who to?

- 1 Listen to the dialogue. Mark the expressions the girls use. Which show agreement? Which show disagreement?

Well, if you ask me...
OK, but...
You're right!
That isn't strictly true.
Absolutely!

That's true!
Yes, perhaps. However, ...
You've got a point there!
I suppose..., but...
To a certain degree...

- 2 Bring out the notes you wrote in the previous lesson. Practise your arguments again and think about how you might use the expressions from the box to respond to other groups' arguments.
- 3 Present your argument to the rest of the class. As you listen to other groups' arguments, think of one or two questions you would like to ask in order to find out more about their project.
- 4 Have a short debate about each project. Then, take part in a vote to decide which one to launch. Be prepared to give reasons for your choice.

Language Development

- 1 Complete this dialogue with some, any, a lot, a little, much or many.

Jamil: Can you give me (2) _____ information about it? Who works in it, and what do they do?

Hakim: So (3) _____ people joined the organisation since its foundation in 2011. Its main purpose is to encourage unity and team work in society. Volunteers establish a cultural and social bond to work together and help and support others. There are almost 15,000 volunteers helping out.

Jamil: Thank you so (4) _____, Hakim. I didn't have (5) _____ idea about this organisation before.

Hakim: (6) _____ help from friends is always useful!

- 2  Now, listen to the dialogue and check your answers.

What do you think?

Read the quotation. Translate it into Arabic.

"True charity is the desire to be useful to others without thought of recompense."

Emanuel Swedenborg

- 3 In pairs, ask and answer questions using How much...?, How many...?, a few, not many, not much, a little, or a lot of.

Example

A: How many books do you read a month?

B: Only a few. / Not many.

- ... books a month (read)?
- ... chocolate a week (eat)?
- ... pizzas a month (have)?
- ... money on petrol a month (spend)?
- ... time learning English a week (spend)?
- ... concerts a year (go to)?
- ... tea every day (drink)?

- 4 The phrases in Column B are clues that help you guess the word in Column A. Can you guess all the words? The first letter of each word is given to you.

A	B
1. c_____	- a piece of paper - relating to money

- 3 Read the text. What problems did Scott face on his journey to the South Pole? Write a summary about these problems and discuss Scott's journey with a partner. Refer to the map on page 87 to locate the places mentioned in the text.

Scott's race to the pole

For the past century, people have admired Robert Falcon Scott – a pioneer who attempted to be the first person to the South Pole.

In 1910, Scott led his second expedition to the Antarctic. He and his crew arrived in January 1911 and set up camp in McMurdo Sound. As they travelled south, they met awful conditions. Their sledges and ponies could not cope. Even the dogs had to turn back. Eventually there were just five men left – Scott, Wilson, Oates, Bowers and Evans. They battled on, but when they reached the South Pole on 17 January, 1912, they found a small tent with a Norwegian flag. The Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen reached the pole a month before Scott.

Like all people who have been beaten, the men were extremely disappointed when they started their return journey. They struggled through blizzards. Evans died in February and then Oates, who had severe frostbite, walked out into the freezing conditions on his thirty-second birthday. He didn't return. The remaining three men finally died of starvation and exposure on 29 March, 1912. Tragically, they were only twenty kilometres from a food supply. Eight months later, a search party found their tent and their diaries. Their notebooks, letters and diaries described the tragic events.

Since then, Scott's bravery has been greatly admired by the British people, and he has become a national hero.

4 Answer the following questions related to the text on page 62.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A LIFETIME

THE TALL SHIPS ATLANTIC CHALLENGE IS ONE OF THE BIGGEST EVENTS OF THE YEAR FOR SAILING ENTHUSIASTS

The race started in 1953, when 20 ships sailed from southern England to Portugal. Since then, it has become bigger and bigger and is now one of the most popular events in the sailing calendar.

The ships in the 2009 Atlantic Challenge were traditional vessels with sails and rigging. They came from Europe, North America and even Uruguay in South America. Their 130,000-km trip took five months to complete, and involved over a thousand crew members and visits to seven ports and five countries.

Most of the people on the ship were teenagers on sail-training programmes led by experienced sailors. They had an amazing trip that took them from Spain to the Canary Islands, and then across the Atlantic to Bermuda. After the ships reached the USA, they raced on to Nova Scotia. The final part of the race, which was over 43,500 km, took a month.

During the race, the crew reported its progress to the organisers. They did this twice a day, at 6 a.m. and 4 p.m. UK time. The ships' positions were then plotted on a map, so that families and friends could follow their progress. At each port on the route, there were spectacular celebrations when the ships arrived.

Patrick Kelly, a teenager on one of the first ships to arrive, said: 'I wanted to go on a new and exciting adventure. This really has been the experience of a lifetime! Since I've been on this ship, I've made lots of new friends and I've discovered a lot about the countries on our route and about myself, too. This has been the longest that I've ever been away from home, so the best part for me was just now, when we sailed back into Belfast!'

3 Read the article on page 66 again and answer the questions.

1. What kinds of ships took part in the Atlantic Challenge?
2. Who were the crew members on the ships?
3. According to the article, what locations did the ships pass by?
4. Why did the organisers plot the ships' positions twice a day?
5. In your opinion, what kind of personality does Patrick Kelly have? Justify your answer.

LISTENING

SPEAKING AND WRITING

5 Imagine that you are going to travel across the Atlantic Ocean on a traditional ship, with sails and rigging. The journey takes at least a month. Tell your partner how you would feel about the journey, giving reasons. You may use some of the adjectives from the box below to describe your feeling. Then, write two short paragraphs describing the journey. Use linking words for coherence.

amazed excited frightened terrified fascinated

Example I'm frightened because this is a new experience for me.

What are Al Idrissi's major achievements? Read this article to find out.

Al Idrissi

Famous for his achievements in geography and exploration, Al Idrissi was born in 1100 in Sabtah, which is a city in North Africa. His noble ancestors come from Hassan Ibn Ali, who was the grandson of Prophet Mohammad, Peace Be upon Him. He received his education in Cordoba and Marrakesh and dedicated his life to 5 doing research and studying geography.

Al Idrissi used his knowledge to make maps and write books like encyclopaedias about Africa, the Indian Ocean and the Far East. He spent many years working for the King of Sicily and made the best map of the world at that time. In his atlas, he used various codes and colours to indicate countries, geographical features and climates.

10 He strongly believed that the world was not flat, but spherical. Al Idrissi wrote about explorers from North Africa who sailed far and eventually reached an island. This helped Columbus in his journey westward when he was trying to reach India. Al Idrissi's success is so important that his achievements are remembered even after centuries have passed.

1 Discuss the following questions with your partner and write notes:

- Why do you think the map Al Idrissi made was the best at that time?
- In your opinion, what is the most important achievement that Al Idrissi made? Explain.
- Why do you think Al Idrissi believed that the world is spherical?

2 Imagine you are Al Idrissi and you want to tell a friend about your achievements.

Following the Writing Strategies, write them a letter explaining that you haven't been in touch with them because you were busy. Use the letter on page 64 as a model. Then, edit the letter for clarity, coherence and format.

Writing Strategies: Structuring an informal letter

- For close friends and family, letters should always begin with 'Dear ...,' or 'My dear ...,'.
- The start of the letter should refer to the last time you received a letter or saw the person you are writing to. We often ask about the person's health, too.
- At the end of the letter, you can choose a greeting before writing your name; 'Best wishes', 'Love from', 'From' and 'Kind regards' are popular ways to end informal letters.

Discover a country

PROJECT

Before you start

There are countries in the world where indigenous peoples lived for hundreds of years without contact with the rest of the world. Over time, European explorers began to 'discover' these places for themselves. Many Muslim scholars contributed to the discovery of new countries. Examples of 'discovered' countries include Australia, New Zealand, North America, Peru, Brazil and Papua New Guinea.

Arab navigator and cartographer Ahmad Bin Majid discovered a water trade route between Europe and India.

Christopher Columbus led a Spanish expedition to Asia in 1492, but discovered North America instead.

British seaman Captain Cook sailed to Australia and New Zealand in the 18th century.

Your task is ...

To 'discover' a country.

A Your first assignment

Carry out your research on your chosen country. Find answers to these questions:

- Who discovered your chosen country, and when?
- Did any people live there at the time?
- What was the country like? Did it have forests or deserts?
- Did the country have any treasures? If so, what happened to them?
- Was the discovery of this country important at the time? Why / Why not?
- What did the person who discovered the country do about it?

B Your second assignment

Imagine you are the person who discovered your chosen country. Write about 2 paragraphs in your journal to say what happened to you there.

C Your third assignment

Make an e-presentation to the class and discuss your chosen country with them.

Gulliver's Travels

Jonathan Swift

Lemuel Gulliver loved to travel and he loved adventures. This is the story of one of his strange adventures.

It all began when Gulliver boarded a ship for India. The journey was a difficult and dangerous one: there was a violent storm, so the ship hit some rocks and sank.

The passengers were terrified. Some tried to escape in a small boat, but it capsized, and only Gulliver survived.

Gulliver swam for his life and just as he was about to give up hope, he saw land. He pulled himself out of the sea and fell down on the sand, and soon, he was asleep.

When he woke up, he couldn't move at all because he was tied to the ground. Slowly, he pulled his hair free and lifted his head. There were tiny men all over him! "Hey!" Gulliver shouted. The tiny men were frightened, and jumped away from him. Then they brought a small ladder to Gulliver, and a tiny man climbed up and shouted at him, but Gulliver didn't understand a word. He was hungry, so he pointed to his mouth. "Hungry," he said. The tiny men seemed to understand him because a crowd of tiny people soon appeared. Each person carried huge amounts of very small food and Gulliver ate it all. Then the tiny people brought him water, which he drank quickly. After a few seconds, he fell asleep again, and the people began to do their work.

They quickly built a wooden cart, and pulled Gulliver onto it. Then they took him away to their capital city, Milando. When Gulliver woke up, he found that he was outside an old palace. He soon realised that the tiny people wanted him to live in the old palace because it was large enough for him, but he still couldn't understand them. Then he noticed that he was a prisoner – his arms were tied to the doors of the palace! As he stood there, hundreds of tiny people came to look at him. Gulliver was 50 amazed. It was like a toy town.

Soon, the Emperor came to see Gulliver, but they couldn't understand each other. "I need to think about this," said the Emperor. So he left some of his 55 people to guard Gulliver and went away.

The Emperor asked his friends what to do with Gulliver, and after much thought, he finally made a decision. "He can stay in my kingdom," he said. "We 60 will give the giant food and clothes, and teach him our language." Soon, Gulliver had everything he needed, but he was still tied up in the old palace, like a prisoner.

Freedom

65 Gulliver learnt the people's language as quickly as possible. Then he asked to see the Emperor. "Please set me free!" he said, but the Emperor wasn't sure.

Gulliver had to wait. So he learnt
70 more about the country, which was called Lilliput. Every day, he asked if he could leave the old palace. Finally, the Emperor agreed. "Let him go," he said. "The giant can go where he likes, but he 75 must ask first!" Gulliver agreed, and set off to explore the city. All the tiny people stayed inside their houses. They were scared of his big feet!

Lilliput seemed like a peaceful
80 place, but Gulliver soon found out that it wasn't. One day, the Emperor asked to see him. "I have some terrible problems," he said. "We're at war with a nearby island, Blefescu, and I've heard 85 that ships are coming from Blefescu today to attack us! You have to help us, Gulliver!" "I'll see what I can do," Gulliver replied. Then he went to the hills above Lilliput, and looked out to 90 sea. It was easy for him to see the island of Blefescu in the distance. He could also see many tiny ships on the sea. There were more than fifty of them! "I'll need some ropes to help you," he told

95 the Emperor. However, the Emperor's ropes were so small that Gulliver had to tie a hundred of them together, just to make one big rope. It took him a long time to make the big rope, but finally it
100 was ready. Gulliver took his rope with him and walked into the sea with it. Because he was so big, it only took him a few minutes to reach the tiny ships, which were still close to the island of 105 Blefescu.

When the sailors saw Gulliver, they were so frightened. He was huge and terrifying to them. Many of the sailors 110 dived into the sea to try to escape from him.

Gulliver used his rope to tie all the tiny ships together. Then he pulled all fifty of them over the sea, back to Lilliput with him. Although the people of Lilliput
115 were happy that Gulliver had saved them from an attack, the Emperor still wasn't satisfied. He wanted to fight the people of Blefescu, but when Gulliver refused to help him, there was nothing the 120 Emperor could do.

The Emperor was angry with Gulliver for several weeks. Then, one night, there was a terrible fire at the palace. Huge flames came out of the windows, and nobody was able to stop them. The people ran to get Gulliver to help them. He was easily able to throw water over the whole palace because he was so large. After Gulliver saved the palace, the Emperor was very pleased with him.

Escape

Gulliver began to enjoy life in Lilliput, although he often thought of home. The tiny people were very kind to him. They brought him three hundred meals every day, and made him some new clothes. However, there was a problem. Because Gulliver was so large, he was very expensive to keep. Flimnap, who worked for the Emperor and looked after his money, didn't like Gulliver. He told the Emperor that Gulliver cost too much, and the Emperor agreed with him. Then Flimnap told everyone that Gulliver wanted to rule Lilliput, and he and some others decided to kill Gulliver.

Gulliver discovered that his life was in danger, but only just in time. He hurried to the sea, and found a small ship there. He put everything he had on the ship, tied the ship to his rope, and pulled it behind him. Then he walked through the waves to the island of Blefescu.

When Gulliver arrived at the island, the King came to meet him. To his surprise, the King told him to stay for as long as he wanted. Gulliver was very grateful to be safe.

One day, a week later, Gulliver saw a boat in the sea, not far from Blefescu. It capsized, but Gulliver could see that it was big enough for him. He rushed to the King. "This is my chance to go home!" he said. "Can you help me to rescue the boat?" "Of course," said the King. "Take some of my ships to help you."

So Gulliver took the King's ships with him, and used them to pull the capsized boat out of the sea.

While Gulliver worked on fixing the boat, some of the King's men made a new sail for the boat. It was constructed from thirteen layers of the strongest material in the land.

Finally, the boat was ready. "I'm leaving now," Gulliver told the King, "but nobody at home will believe my story. Can I take some of your people with me?" "I don't think that's a good idea, Gulliver," said the King. "However, you can take these gold coins with you." Then he gave Gulliver some tiny bags of money.

Gulliver thanked the King and promised never to forget the people of Blefescu. Then he sailed away in his boat.

After a few days at sea, Gulliver saw a large ship. He shouted and waved wildly at it. The ship's crew saw him, and sailed over to find out what the problem was. They soon realised that Gulliver was alone in a small boat. "Where have you come from?" asked the captain. "From Lilliput and Blefescu," Gulliver replied, and he showed the captain the tiny bags of gold coins that he had with him. The captain was amazed. For a few gold coins, he agreed to take Gulliver home on his ship.

What do you think?

Al Zahrawi

The surgeon Al Zahrawi could not have predicted the long history of the surgical tools he wrote about in his book, Al Tasrif. Doctors and nurses now use tools like those every day in hospitals, over a thousand years after he wrote about them.

- 5 Al Zahrawi was a famous, tenth-century Muslim surgeon who lived and worked in Cordoba. In his encyclopaedia of medicine called Al Tasrif (The Method of Medicine), Al Zahrawi describes and illustrates more than 200 surgical tools, like syringes, forceps and scalpels, that he designed and that were being used at the time. He gives clear instructions how to use them all. His 10 detailed accounts of many dental and surgical practices of his time are still used by medical students all over Europe, as they have been for centuries.

Today, Al Zahrawi is known as ‘the father of modern surgery’. He introduced new medical procedures such as using catgut for internal stitching. He also invented the use of medicine in small parcels ready for swallowing, known 15 nowadays as ‘the capsule’.

The amazing thing about his descriptions is that if you were to hold up a modern surgical tool, such as a scalpel, and compare it to the ancient one described by Al Zahrawi, they would look almost identical!

Sinan

As a young boy in Turkey, Sinan would spend time helping his father, who was a stonemason and carpenter. He was quick to learn, gaining the skills and knowledge that would one day make him a famous architect, well known throughout the Islamic world.

5 Sinan was born in 1489 in Turkey and he began his career as a young carpenter, building and repairing wooden bridges and ships for the army. However, it was not long before the ruler of the land, the Ottoman Sultan, started to notice Sinan's clever designs and creations. He summoned Sinan. 'You have a remarkable talent,' the Sultan told him. 'We would like you to build
10 for us'. So, Sinan's long and distinguished career as an architect for the sultans began, designing mosques, schools and other public buildings all over the Islamic world.

In total, Sinan designed and built an incredible 477 buildings. However, he had a particular philosophy when constructing buildings: his aim was to create 15 designs that were in harmony with the landscape around them, an idea that did not reach Europe until over a hundred years later. Moreover, he developed a new way of building domes so that they could be larger and higher than ever.

The height of Sinan's achievement was the beautiful Selimiye Mosque at Edirne, which is one of the most well-known pieces of architecture in the 20 Islamic world. Stretching high up into the sky, its four minarets, each standing at 83 metres above the ground, making them the tallest in Turkey, were built to resist earthquakes.

This great architect achieved many great things. His buildings are the best testament of his talent, but in 1976, this was further acknowledged when a 25 crater on the planet Mercury was named Sinan after him.

Revision

Linking words

- We use linking words to establish a meaningful connection between sentences or paragraphs. The following table lists some common linking words.

Linking words showing addition	also, and, as well as
Linking words showing time	after, finally, first, when, while
Linking words showing comparison	also
Linking words showing contrast	although, however, but
Linking words showing cause or effect	as, because
Linking words showing result or consequence	so, so that

They chose Nazem as Employee of the Month last time because he worked really hard.

Module 2

Relative Pronouns

- We use the relative pronouns that/who to talk about people:
Having a school uniform also helps to identify people that/who belong to the school.
- We use the relative pronoun that to talk about things or places:
It's a kufiyyah that people wore as a headdress.
A charity shop is a shop that belongs to a charity organisation.
- We use the relative pronoun which to talk about things:
Salem is going to participate in the spelling competition, which my school is organising next month.

- We use the relative pronoun whose to talk about people's possessions:
Well, students whose clothes are trendy may show off to other students.
- We use the relative pronoun where to talk about places:
Salem visited the town where Arar, the poet, was born.

The Comparative and the Superlative

- We use the comparative form of an adjective to compare two people or things. We add -er to an adjective and than after the adjective to make the comparison:
It's longer than the red one.
- We use more + than to form the comparative of adjectives with two or more syllables:
The blue jacket is more expensive than the red or the yellow one.
- We use the superlative to compare more than two people or things. We use the + -est to form the superlative:
Isn't it the nicest?
- We use the most to form the superlative of adjectives with two or more syllables:
Light blue and red are the two most fashionable spring colours.

Form

The comparatives and superlatives are formed in this way:

- For one-syllable adjectives, we use -er/-est:
great – greater – (the) greatest nice – nicer – (the) nicest
- For one-syllable adjectives with a short vowel followed by a single consonant, we double the final consonant:

big – bigger – (the) biggest hot – hotter – (the) hottest

- For two-syllable adjectives ending with -i, we change the -y to -ier/-iest:
pretty – prettier – (the) prettiest dirty – dirtier – (the) dirtiest
- For other two-syllable and longer adjectives, we use more/less and (the) most/least:
tired – more/less tired – (the) most/least tired beautiful – more/less beautiful – (the) most/least beautiful
- Irregular adjectives:
good – better – (the) best
bad – worse – (the) worst far – further/farther – (the) furthest/farthest little – less – (the) least

Module 3

be going to/will

- We use will to make predictions, generally either about an imprecise future time or a fairly distant future.
We will wear computers in our clothing.
Doctors will treat patients in their own homes.
- We use be going to to make predictions where a prediction is based on past experience or an established fact, and we feel there is greater evidence now about the certainty of a future event.
I am going to be a computer specialist.
I'm going to visit my grandparents at the weekend.
- We use am/is/are + not + going to + infinitive to form the negative:
I'm not going to play any more video games until I get my degree at university.
My family and I aren't going to go away for our holidays.

- We put am/is/are before the subject to form the interrogative:

Is your teacher going to give you extra lessons?

Are you going to buy an alarm clock?

- We may put an interrogative word at the beginning of the sentence.

What are you going to do about those video games you like so much?

I You He She It We They	will/will not (won't)	take holidays on other planets.
Will	I you he she it we they	be online all the time?

I You He She It We They	am is are	going to/ not going to	study hard.
Am Is Are	I you he she it we they	going to	get a robot?

Module 4

First Conditional

- We use the First Conditional to talk about a possible result which depends on a possible condition:
If I want to send them a letter, I will write on clay tablets.
- We use the First Conditional If + Present Simple + ... + Future Simple to express that both the condition and the result will take place in the future:
If you read this article, you will want to know more about this subject.
- We use the First Conditional If + Present Simple + ... + may + infinitive to express that we are not sure if something will happen or not, even if the condition is fulfilled:
If you are a caveman that is good at drawing, you may decide to cover the walls of your cave with paintings of your hands.
- The main clause can have other modal verbs such as can, must, have to and should.
If you want to send a letter, you should use a postal service.
- The if clause may precede or follow the main clause. When the if clause follows the main clause, there is no comma separating the two parts of the sentence.
I will play football this weekend if I don't have any homework.

Module 5

Quantity words and expressions

- We use a lot of to talk about large quantities of both plural countable and uncountable nouns.
Mr Lin wanted to have a lot of money.
- We use little and a little to talk about small quantities of plural uncountable nouns.
He only wanted a little food.
- We use a few and few to talk about small quantities of plural countable nouns.
He was silent for a few minutes.
I want to take all my money with me, even the few pennies I have saved.
- We use much to talk about large quantities of uncountable nouns in negative sentences and questions, and many to talk about large quantities of plural countable nouns in positive sentences, negative sentences and questions.
The poor man didn't want much food.
How much fresh juice do you drink?
They walked for many miles.
There aren't many biscuits.
How many carpets are there in your bedroom?
- We use as much/many/little... as to say that people are or things are equal in some way.
Mr Lin wanted to spend as little money as possible.
- We use some and any with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns. Some is used in positive sentences; any is used in negative sentences and questions.
Give some of your books and change the world.
The poor man didn't have any money.
Have you got any pizza with spinach?
- We use How much...? to ask about amounts and quantities for uncountable nouns.
How much fresh juice do you drink?

- We also use How much...? to ask about prices and value.

How much money do you spend on books?

- We use How many...? to ask about amounts and quantities for countable nouns.

How many carpets are there in your bedroom?

Module 6

The Present Perfect Simple with for, since and time expressions

- We use the Present Perfect Simple to talk about activities and events in the past when we either don't know or are not interested in exactly when they happened.

I am sorry that I haven't written to you for many months.

- The time expressions for and since are typically used with the Present Perfect Simple.

For two weeks now we have not seen land.
Since I've been on this ship, I've made lots of new friends.

- For is used to express the duration of a certain period.

I am sorry that I haven't written to you for many months.

- Since is used to say when a period has begun and has not ended; it also refers to a specific date or period of time.

What have they written in England about our voyage since our departure?

- We use ever, for and since with the Present Perfect Simple. We only use ever in questions:

Have you ever travelled to a big town?
One of the crew has been ill for three days now.
I have learnt about different cultures since I came to this school.

- We use ago / last week / when I was a child, etc. with the Past Simple.

He became a pilot when he was 21.

The Present Perfect Simple and the Past Simple

- We use have/has + not (never) + the past participle of the verb to form the negative. We often use the contractions haven't and hasn't.

I haven't had anything to eat for more than six hours.

We have never seen so many interesting things here!

- We put have/has before the subject to form the interrogative. We may also use question words.

Has it been an amazing experience?

Have you ever been in Jordan for three days?

How long have you lived in this town?

- When we have expressions of specific time, such as in, on, when and several days ago, we use the Past Simple.

Yuri Gagarin was a Russian space explorer in the 20th century.

He became the first person in space on 12 April, 1961.

He ate some strange vegetables when we were on one of the other islands.

We left the island of Tahiti several days ago.

- We use the Past Simple to talk about finished actions or past situations and past habits.

I think he ate some strange vegetables when we were on one of the other islands.
